

Designed Mechanical Solutions

Designed Mechanical Solutions

ABOUT US

Designed Mechanical Solutions Ltd was incorporated in December 2012. The idea was to set up an M&E Sales Agency that would work alongside highly reputable M&E Manufacturer's, and assist those companies in increasing their sales turnover by increasing their market exposure to a wide & varied client base.

With an already established client base including Architects, M&E Design Consultants, M&E Contractors, and Developers, Designed Mechanical Solutions Ltd utilises their relationships and the Manufacturers product & technical expertise to supply a complete product solution for residential, office, retail, educational, and bespoke projects.

Designed Mechanical Solutions Ltd is proud to work alongside some of the most highly reputable manufacturers in the UK, and is well versed in working on projects of all sizes in the supply of heating & hot water generation products.

In the last 7 years, Designed Mechanical Solutions Ltd has successfully generated over £7 million of sales for our manufactures (principles), and have worked on nearly 2000 individual projects during that time. A majority of these projects have been assisting from concept design, right through to the commissioning & service stage.

If you are interested in having your products promoted & sold through Designed Mechanical Solutions Ltd, please contact us directly via e-mail: dd@designedmechanical.com, or telephone 07881 225 135.

Modutherm Ltd, part of the Modular Heating Group, has 40 years' experience in the UK commercial heating market, and continues to set the highest standards within the industry for both product and service. The company is a three generation family business, and is headed up Ian Bradley (MD). Ian has overseen the growth of the Modular Heating Group for over 30years, and is well versed in supplying complete heating solutions to the UK M&E market place.

So whether your requirements are for wall hung boilers, floor standing boilers, hot water generation, or system pressurisation, Modutherm Ltd will deliver high quality products which are all supported by a dedicated field-based sales team, and experienced contracts & technical department.

MHS Radiators is part of the Modular Heating Group, and has been supplying heat emitters in to the UK M&E Marketplace for over 30 years.

So whether you're an architect, a specifier, contractor or consultant, MHS Radiators has a huge range of heat emitters which are perfect for any type of installation. This includes residential and retail, schools, hospitals and prisons. Plus you can rest easy in the knowledge that we have an unparalleled reputation for engineering excellence and after sales care.

Based in 40,000 sq ft of warehouse & office space, and with a dedicated in-house delivery fleet, we are ideally set up to deliver on the promises we make as a company. Not only that, but we also have a large stock holding, enabling quick turn around times on stocked items.

We also have a team of nationwide sales representatives, and a back office support team which includes Estimating, Contracts, and Technical departments, to ensure that support is at hand every step of the way.

Our Product range includes the following:

- Panel Radiators
- Steel Column Radiators
- Cast Iron Radiators
- LST Radiators
- Designer Radiators
- Towel Rails
- Electric Heating
- Radiant Ceiling Panels

